How to File Your Appeal

1. Contact your municipality's tax assessor office directly to obtain the Application for Appeal of Property Tax form, as Providence County appeals are handled at the local municipal level rather than county-wide.
2. Submit your completed Application for Appeal of Property Tax form to your local tax assessor's office within ninety (90) days from the date the first tax payment is due, which is typically around July 1st.
3. Include comparable property sales data, professional appraisal if available, photographs of property conditions, and detailed explanation of why assessment is incorrect or unfair with your appeal application.
4. The assessor has forty-five (45) days to review your appeal, render a decision and notify you of their determination, during which they may request property inspection or additional information.

5. If the assessor denies your appeal or fails to respond within 45 days, file an appeal to the local Board of Tax Assessment Review (BTAR) within thirty (30) days of the assessor's decision or within ninety (90) days if no decision was rendered.

6. File notice of intention to submit property account by January 31st and submit the actual account between March 1st and March 15th to preserve your right to appeal to Superior Court if necessary.

If You're Called to a Hearing

Bring your Evidence Packet. You'll have 2–3 minutes to make your case. Keep it simple and focus on the comparable sales:

> "Thank you for hearing my appeal. My property at 15 Glasgow Street is currently appraised by the county at $672,000. However, I've gathered 7 recent sales of similar homes in the area. The 25th percentile price per square foot of these comparable properties is $179. Applied to my home's 2,912 square feet, this supports a market value of approximately $520,181. I've included addresses, sale prices, and details for each comparable in my evidence packet. I respectfully request the Board adjust my assessment to reflect actual market conditions."

Tips: Be polite and factual. Focus only on whether your property's value is correct compared to similar homes that recently sold.

Note: Filing requirements may change. We recommend confirming all deadlines, forms, and contact information with your county assessor's office before submitting your appeal.
